Welcome to bootCon

Congratulations! You made it to the final class. There will be no lecture today; the rest of class will consist of your final project presentations.

Day 1:

We will:
- Highlight the value of communication in the cybersecurity industry.
- Review the bootCon conference and the rules for your presentations.
- Research and begin to piece together your presentations.

Day 2:

We will:
- Review some tips for a successful bootCon presentation
- Use the remaining class time to finalize your presentations.
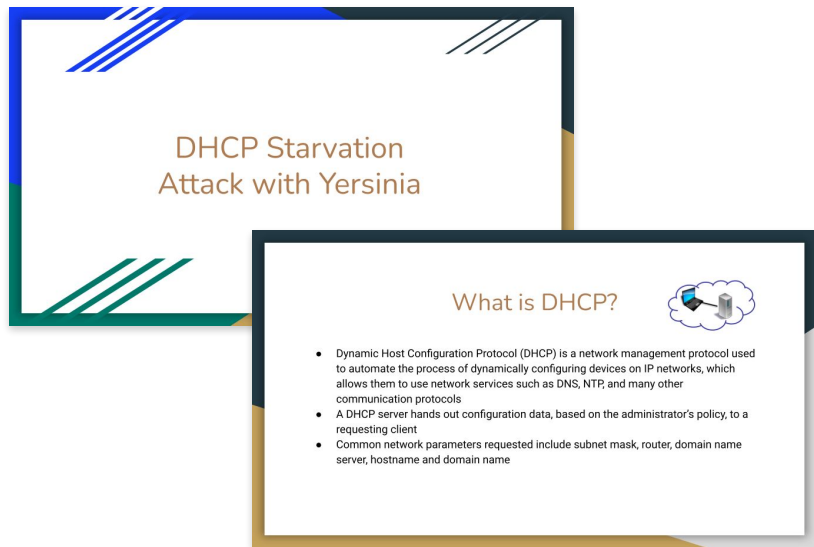

Day 3:

We will:
- Present our projects.

Welcome to bootCon

After you present, you must submit the following:

Presentation slides

Additional presentation materials

When networking and talking to potential employers:

You can reference the work done on this project to answer specific interview questions or to demonstrate your skills within a specific domain.

Pro Tip:
You can refer to the following document for: Interview and Resume Guidance

Guidelines for a Successful bootCon

1 Be aware of your presentation start time and be ready to start when you or your group is called.

2 If time remains in your allotted presentation time, feel free to take your classmates' questions on your presentation.

3 Be aware of your allotted presentation time.

4 If you need to start wrapping up your presentation due to time limitations, your instructor or TA will give you an indication.

5 If you are using a recording, be sure to have your recording ready to play.

⚠️ Important ⚠️

There will be no formal breaks during class.

Presentations will go from the beginning to the end of class time.
